Andactty of Our Citizens. the City Lot, near the Orphan Asylum, the Commercial mys: "Some little disturbance was occasioned by the audacity of the crowd to force admission within the inclosure, but the general good order preserved was in marked contrast to the reports of similar nifairs e'sewhere."

Audacity of the crowd to force an entrance is good. The Commercial may have blundered luto this word, but it is according to the spirit of the rest of the comment. One who new the Mayor's performance and this commendation of it in a public fournal, might imagine that he was in Austria, only the authorities in Austria would not dare treat the people in such a way. In England, if the olice had dared to set up exclusive privileges in a public place, as our Mayor did, the crowd would have asserted their rights and cleaned out the police, and the whole people of England would have applanded them for it. Really we are progressing fast for a free

The case was this: the Mayor and a large force of police took possession of a lot which belongs to the people, on a public occasion and held the gate in the face of the crowd for an hour, admitting only his own friends and a favored few. There was room inside the lot and outside the part staked off for the drill, for all the people and five times as many, and a police force sufficient to keep the space for the drill clear, but there the crowd were kept in the street, and, as the Commercial says, "Upon the arrival of the military, a very large number of citizens, including many ladies, had assembled upon the ground, and occupied every point of observation in the neighborhood." And, instead of admitting this assembly into the inclosure, and disposing of them in the place allotted to them, the Mayor could see no other use for his police force than to hold the gate in the face of the people, admitting a ew whom he selected out, from time to time -by what rule we know not-and then shutting the gate upon the audacious crowd. To aggravate the people, the Mayor mounted the fence and made a speech to them.

After the military had entered, and some time after the Zouaves had commenced, the gate was opened, as if they had now got things fixed so that they would be safe against the rabble. In all this the Commercial can see nothing but the "audscity of the crowd," and the good order of the Mayor. To us it seems the hight of official insolence, assumption and suobbery. The Mayor had no authority to exclude the people from a public lot, except from the space required for the military. It must have driven away many who came to see the parade. His manner of doing it was insulting, and his admitting the favored, was an exhibition of official snobbery and an attempt to set up a privileged class, which had better be nipped now. Every thing was worse for the Mayor's interference, and, as the Commercial shows, as soon as that ceased good order prevailed.

Zounves and Dellars.

It is probably apparent to the managers of the Zonave exhibition at the Opera-house that they made a blunder in putting the price of admission at $1. It is a pity their wisdom had not come sooner. A dollar admission gave the thing a slight odor of humbug; and the financial result of the thing would have made a much better exhibit, with the house filled to its capacity, as it would have been, at fifty cents to all parts of the bonse, than it did with about one-third of its capacity filled at $1; while the impression on the people and on the strangers would have been, beyond comparison, better.

There was also no need to drive the financial results to quite so fine a point as to exclude the city military, except on payment of the dollar. The yield from the citizens would have been sufficient for all purposes, and the military were at expense enough, both on this occasion and all the while, without being charged so round a price to see their visitors drill. We attribute the meager attendance entirely to the unreasonable price for certainly the Zonaves have been well advertised, and the public curiosity was up. It is creditable to our citizens that it was so. In small towns there is a snobbish fear to stay away from a high-priced entertainment; but our city has outgrown that snobbery, and will not stand any thing which is palpably unreasonable-a fact which might as well be understood.

No Dodging.

The Commercial has searched the Lincoln-Douglas debates, and it publishes a string of extracts from Liucoln's speeches to show that he is not in favor of conferring equal civil rights on the negroes; and that paper intimates that if the Democratic papers were disposed to be fair, they would give them ciroulation.

These may have been Mr. Lincoln's opinions than, but now he is the nominee of the Republican party on the Chicago Platform. which he has expressly accepted as his rule of political faith, and a slight reflection will show the Commercial that it is improper to go behind that record to show his political opinions.

In the second resolution of that platform the Commercial will find a declaration that "all men are created equal," and that to secure this right governments are formed, and that the maintenance of this principle is essential to the preservation of our Republican institutions. If this is not negro equality, we should be pleased to know what it

A Bell-Everett paper, called the Cincinnati Evening Post, made its appearance yesterday. The field of evening newspaperdom has been but little occupied in this city, and would seem to be wide enough for the new journal. Whether it will not be wide enough still, remains to be seen. The paper is devoted to the fate of the Bell-Everett nomination, and it is rather queer that a party which has sought safety from discussion by proclaiming the Constitution as its only platform, while it dare not say what the Constitution decides on any prominent question of public policy, should want an organ, a thing which one would suppose would lead to the very discussion of questions which it has sought to escape. We shall see, however, what an organ, that in political principles is limited to the Constitution, will find to occupy its

The Southern Excaralouists

Buffalo, August 10.—The Southern ex-cursion party arrived here at ten o'clock this morning. The depot was thronged with people assembled to witness the reception. The Mayor welcomed the visitors in a brief speech. Judge Clayton, of Miss, responded on the part of the Southerners, at considerable length, in which, after returning thanks for the courtesy extended to them, he re-viewed the relative position of the two sections of the country toward each other; their mutual dependence, and expressed the hope that nothing would ever occur which would have the effect of interrupting the brotherly celings which should at all times character

ANOTHER STRAMBOAT DIRASTER-THE T. C. TWICHELL STRIKES A ROCK, AND IS BRACHED IN A SIRKING CONDITION .- Yesterday's St. Lonia Democrat observes:

Louis Democrat observes:

By special dispatch from our resident Cairo correspondent, we learn that the steamer T. C. Twickell has met with a serious accident, by which both boat and cargo are both damaged. The Twickell left this port on Wednesday with a moderate cargo of produce, for New Orleans. On the afternoon of yesterday, she struck a rock at the mouth of the Ohio, and proceeded on toward Cairo in a sinking condition. Her officers proceeded at once to beach her, and did so successfully on the Kentucky shore.

Some flatboats were secured and taken alongside the damaged steamer, and her cargo was transferred to them. The dispatch says the cargo is not badly damaged, and that the boat goes on the ways. The Twickell was recently brought here for a moderate sum by Capt. Holland, and was painted and fixed up by him. Boat, cargo, and freightlist are probably innured in this city. We believe that arrangements had been made for her to go to the assistance of the Chockay, aground it I lend No. 26. If so, the job will have been as the come other steamer—perhaps the Great in the Come of the Chockay.

Capt. Wm. E. Simms, a Breckinridge population of that city, according to the connector, declared in a late public speech that the South paid $40,000,000 for the pitiful 43,877. The increase, then, has been about 1,000.

made to the generality of composition roofing materials.

That we have succeeded in producing a material that will, practically, form a fire, water, weather and time-proof Roofing, the experience of fifteen years has fully demonstrated, and we now submit our Roofing to the inspection of those interested. confidently believing that, on examination, their own judgment will convince them of the correctness of our claims.

The materials of which it is composed combine every requisite for a practically imperishable roof, which will withstand the sudden and frequent changes of any climate without suntaining figury. We would call attention to the following facts:

The materials and water-proof.

Score I if fire and water-proof.

Score I if the and water-proof.

Themp-It is adopted to in thinds of roofs, whether steep or flat, and will not return of reach; in cold weather, coal-tar forming no part of the composition.

Firm—It is very light, not requiring as strong or coid weather, coal-tar forming no part of the composition.

Firm—It is very light, not requiring as strong or sepensive a structure to sustain it as many other kinds of ruefing.

Sixxu—For preserving shingle roofs, one light coating will last longer than four coats of paint.

Sixxus—For preserving and repairing tin roofs
it is unequaled by any other material now in use.

A coating of the Guita-spercha spon a tin roof shat is leaking and badly rusted will make it tight as soon as applied and preserve it for many rears.

Enourn—its coat is only about one-half that of tin, much less than shingle, and, considering its great durability, is much the chaspest roofing now in use.

In use.

We are prepared to contract for new roofs, for re-pairing old ones, for coating tin and other metal roofs, at moderate, social stores to supply agents, contrastors and others.
